NURSERY EDUCATIONAL PACT OF CO-RESPONSIBILITY (D.P.R. 249/98; D.P.R. 235/07)

Approved by the Academic Board on the 09/07/2021

Introduction

The Nursery School lays the foundations steps for learning and developing social skills as well as establishing the basis for a good relationship with reference figures such as teachers.

To this end, the chosen operating methods offer continuous opportunities for expression, comparison, and exchange of opinions with particular emphasis on the child's emotions, so in time they will gradually learn to recognize, express, and control them as appropriate.

One of the school's tasks is to share with families its educational and methodological choices.

The school organizes and describes the child's educational path, where learning and cognitive-relational processes are intertwined.

The Pact of Educational Co-responsibility, therefore, is a document through which each signatory declares himself/herself responsible for the duties and actions in relation to his/her own areas of competence.

It is necessary that both school and family, each respecting its own role, are always collaborative, and thus build a single formative reference point.

The teachers undertake to:

- Give professional and competent support to the family in the task of teaching children.
- Consolidate identity and autonomy. Recognition and development of skills, to teach the first aspects of civic education, such as respect and coexistence within the school.
- Recognize and respect the individual and collective rhythm of the child and of the group, to guide them in the discovery and enhancement of their attitudes and skills.
- Motivate children to enhance their social skills; through integration and inclusion so that all children are seen as equals without discrimination and ease the acquisition of autonomy in the surrounding environment and socialize with each other.
- Learn to collaborate in all aspects of daily activities with companions and teachers, develop creativity and use imagination to their best potential.
- Encourage full collaboration in educational aspects with parents, to define common norms and good habits of behavior.
- Organize adequate spaces and time to create a positive educational and relational environment that guarantees the psycho-physical well-being of the child.
- Promote a positive social climate of mutual acceptance, trust, respect, security, self-esteem, and collaboration.
- Design and create educational environments that promote play, creativity, and attention to the individual rhythms of the child.
- Recognize, support, and enhance the cultural and personal characteristics that define the identity of each child
- Promote diversity as a positive aspect that enriches our human experience.

The families undertake to:

- Support and collaborate with teachers to best achieve educational goals.
- Participate in school activities such as assemblies and interviews with teachers and school coordinator to learn about the educational program.
